FIGHT ON COOPER VERY HOT IN STATE

Racine News Sums up the Situation in a Recent Issue.
The Racine News sums up the congressional situation as follows: "In Wisconsin one of the fiercest contests for the last fourteen years and during that period Mr. Nolan has been one of his strongest followers in Rock county. Four years ago it was through Mr. Nolan's personal efforts that V. P. Richardson of Janesville was defeated for the nomination and Cooper saved.
Two years ago in the heat of the fight, in the republican factional contest, Nolan again secured Cooper's nomination almost through his rule at the Monroe convention. Cooper had taken sides with La Follette in the fight and Nolan was on the other side. Despite this fact Cooper was nominated in a convention composed of a majority of anti-La Follette delegates.
Vote on Tariff a Factor.
Early in the year M. G. Jeffris of Janesville came out for the congressional nomination, basing his platform upon Cooper's vote on the Philippine tariff. He was forced by business interests to drop out of the fight early in the year, and upon the urgent appeal of the sugar beet and tobacco interests Nolan consented to make the run. In Rock, Walworth, and Green counties it is estimated that there is over $3,000,000 invested in tobacco and half that in sugar beets and factories. There is also a scattering in Racine and Kenosha counties, two other parts of the First district.
These interests have combined against Cooper and seek his defeat owing to his vote to reduce the Philippine tariff, which would work an injury to this section of the state more than to any other. Nolan has been making a vigorous personal campaign, and Cooper has come from Washington, where he makes his home, for the summer, and is flooding the district with circulars and other material.
Cooper Appeals to La Follette.
"Cooper has many warm friends in the district who are working for him. He has appealed to La Follette for assistance.
"In the democratic fight two candidates, Stuart of Kenosha and Cunningham of Janesville, are working hard for the nomination. The First district is nominally 10,000 to 20,000 republican, but it is felt that with a possible division in the ranks owing to the bitter republican fight a democrat will have a good chance of being elected. The outcome is watched with interest."

BIDS FOR MILLION IN CERTIFICATES

Four Per Cent Paper Will Retire Temporary Promises of Philippine's Indebtedness.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—At the Insular Bureau of the War Department bids were opened today for the forthcoming issue of $1,000,000 in four per cent Philippine certificates of indebtedness maturing the first of next month. The issue is to be employed in retiring the $1,500,000 Philippine temporary certificates of indebtedness maturing the first of next month. The remaining $500,000 will be paid in cash. These certificates were issued to provide for the maintenance of party of Philippine coinage. The maximum amount outstanding at any one time was $2,000,000, which was reduced by the retirement of $3,000,000 on May 1, 1905, and $1,000,000 on September 1, 1905, and the payment of $500,000 in cash next month will leave outstanding only the new issue of $1,000,000.
In connection with this issue the government has seen to it that there is no opportunity for another "Bribe" to turn a handsome profit at the risk of a postage stamp. All bidders were required to enclose with their bids certified checks to the amount of one per cent of the bids as an earnest of their willingness to take the certificates allotted to them.

HETTY WILL SUPPLY SON NED WITH CAMPAIGN CASH

Son Of Richest Woman In America Is Making Fight For Governor Of The Lone Star State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—The news that came up from the Lone Star state last week that E. H. R. Green, son of the enormously wealthy Hetty Green, has been nominated by the republicans for governor of Texas has created a little ripple here, where politics, like everything else, is as dull as ditch water during these August dog days. Young Green—he is still in his thirties—is known only by reputation here. But he has been active in politics down in Texas for quite a long time considering his age and the politicians in that section have long regarded him as a "comer." It is pointed out by those acquainted with his career that "Ned" Green was taking part in practical politics long before this present day had arose for rich young men to seek office. He has been in Texas about fifteen years and always has been interested in the politics of the state. He served three terms as chairman of the state committee and was delegate to the national conventions.
No one thinks for a moment that there is any chance for a republican to be elected governor of Texas at the present time. The republican party itself is badly split in the state, with two tickets in the field. Green is the nominee of what is termed the "reorganized" faction, which is making war on the element of which Cecil Lyon is the recognized leader.
But whether or not young Green has a ghost of a show of winning out, his candidacy is bound to give ginger to the Texas campaign this fall. If money is needed to put the political machinery in good running order Hetty Green will furnish any amount. "Ned," as she fondly calls him, is the idol of her heart. No matter how close she may be in business affairs or how penurious she may be in regard to her personal expenditures, "the richest woman in America" is liberal to the extreme where her son is concerned. It is believed that Hetty Green would cheerfully give up millions to make "Ned" governor of Texas as if she thought he really wanted it and that money would get it.

MEAT TRUST ACCUSED OF ANOTHER LAW VIOLATION

Organ Of Coopers' Union Accuses Packers Of Doping Products Sold In Pails, Kegs And Barrels.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 23.—In its current issue the official journal of the Coopers' International Union of North America exposes what it terms another trick of the meat trust, and one which failed to come to light in the federal and other recent investigations. The article refers to the practice of silicating cooperage packages in which meats are cured, and in which butter and various meats are packed for shipment.
The article says in part: "In former years all barrels and kegs, used for food products in meat packing houses were planed out clean inside and the tanks carefully repaired through mechanical means. For instance, if a barrel contained a defective piece of wood (stave or heading) the defective piece was removed and a new one inserted. In the process of economy it was found that many of the leaks could be temporarily stopped and the services of the cooperage inside with a mixture containing silicic acid, oxygen and other calcareous sulphurous matter. In case of a bad leak the package is coated and re-coated with this preparation until a considerable thickness of it is formed inside the package. This poisonous preparation, though at first dry and hard, in the course of time dissolves into the contents of the pack, and through the usual course finds its way into the stomachs of the unsuspecting consumers."

RIVALS MUDDLE DEMMIES; PRINCIPALS REPUBLICANS

Bay State Politics Surely Mixed—Bryan And Hearst Have Supporters On Two Sides.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., Aug. 23.—The fact that Henry M. Whitney and Congressman John A. Sullivan have consented to appear on the democratic ticket as candidates for governor and lieutenant governor respectively, has not relieved the muddled state of politics in Massachusetts to any great extent. District Attorney John B. Moran is still in the field as a candidate for governor, and he declares he will move aside for no man. But the announcement of the Whitney and Sullivan candidacies without doubt has caused consternation in the Moran camp. The Moran supporters had figured strongly on the strength of their candidate in Boston, but hopes in this direction have been dispelled by the bringing out of Whitney. Congressman Sullivan also will add strength to the ticket in Boston, which forms about one-fourth of the voting strength in the nominating convention.
George Fred Williams, a Bryantite, is in control of the Bryan committee and has placed Moran on the committee to receive Bryan, in spite of the efforts of the "old line" democratic leaders. To add to the confusion, Col. A. C. Drinkwater, a Bryan man but a member of the state committee, is strong for Moran. Hearst, while

RAISED QUESTION

TABASCO-CHIAPAS TRADING AND TRANSPORTATION CO. IN TROUBLE.

LOCAL PEOPLE INTERESTED

Arrest of President and Secretary Comes as a Surprise to Stockholders in City.

Announcements made in this morning's papers that postal inspectors had made a raid of the offices of the Tabasco-Chiapas Trading and Transportation Co. in Chicago and had arrested Henry D. Bushnell, the president, and Isaiah B. Miller, the secretary, has created considerable excitement in Janesville. The charges made public this morning, if true, are most sensational and show a serious condition of affairs. The truth of the statements made is however doubted by E. F. Carpenter, who is not only a stockholder but also a director in the concern.

The conditions. In speaking of the matter, this morning Mr. Carpenter said: "What I know of the affair I read in this morning's papers aside from a telephone message last night. The charges as made by the newspapers are as follows: They say that we do not own any ships, or any ship building yards at Frontera, Mexico. I have been there myself, and seen them. Our company is a trading and transportation concern and we are not in the coffee raising, rubber plantation business or anything of that nature. We build ships for our own lines and for other people. We have large yards at Frontera and the city has given us concessions. As far as I know the company is solvent, entirely so. I believed Mr. Bushnell and Mr. Miller to be honest men and can not understand the present trouble."

Revenge May Be Part

"Some time ago a suit was brought against the company by persons who had tried to consolidate us with a larger scheme which we had refused to have anything to do with. This may be a continuation of his spite work. Twice the suit was dropped out of the Chicago courts by the testimony showing that the concern was solvent and needed no receiver appointed. The Tabasco company is not interested with the L. M. H. Mills Coffee company. How much money is invested by Janesville people could not say. I was told once that out of the entire capitalization one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars was owned by Wisconsin people and the majority of this stock is in Janesville and Madison."

The Tribune's Story

The following is the story of the trouble as printed in this morning's Chicago Tribune:
The Tabasco-Chiapas Trading and Transportation company, a $2,000,000 shipbuilding, coffee growing, river and trading Mexican plantation concern, with headquarters at 13 River street in this city, and with branch offices in Philadelphia and the City of Mexico, has tumbled down, name and all, with a crash.

The institution, which is charged with fleecing 2,500 stockholders out of $851,000, using 22 per cent of this vast amount to pay dividends which were never earned, was raided yesterday by the United States postal authorities. Henry D. Bushnell, 4936 Kimball avenue, president, and Isaiah B. Miller, treasurer of the company, were arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Thomas Middleton on the complaint that they were using the mails to defraud the public. These men are said to have used a stock jobbing scheme similar to that exposed in the case of the Cash Buyer's union."

Fifty Agent Charge Fraud.
In addition to this serious status of its affairs, fifty agents of the Tabasco-Chiapas company complain that they have been defrauded out of $1,000 each, received no part of the $200 a month salary promised them, and that when they went to the posts assigned them, they found no facilities for starting up an agency.

The principal complainants are W. S. Sinclair of Boston and A. L. Ensign, 22 North Union street, Chicago, an employee of the Durand-Kasper company. Stockholders to the extent of $4,000 each. There are forty or fifty other complainants, beside the fifty agents. Warrants have been issued by Judge Humphrey for two other men, whose names have not been learned.

Dividends of $200,000 Paid

Postoffice Inspector William Ketchum, who investigate the affairs of the company and caused the arrest of the officers, put the case this way:
"The government contends that this company secured titles to a piece of land in Frontera, Mexico, and capitalized under the laws of New Jersey for $1,000,000. The company represented in the past that it was earning sufficient money to justify it in the last few years in paying dividends amounting to $200,000. Upon these rosy representations it realized $851,000 in cash sales of stock.
"The dividends paid never were earned from the shipbuilding, transportation and coffee industries of the company, and dividends were paid out of sales of stock to induce the public to purchase more stock."

A feature of the game was for the

"Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

'coffee' business, to promise agents $200 a month. When the agents secured jobs they were forced to invest $1,000 in stock. The agents complain that when they got to the branch office they failed to hear from the house, and received no salaries. We also, charged that the company produces no coffee on its land, but buys in New York, and only gets its coffee in Chicago by paying for it in advance.

Lured From Canada

Mr. Bushnell, who is also president of the Mexican Plantation association, with offices at 13 River street, and the United States Peat Fuel company, 124 Monroe street, was arrested upon his return from Canada, where he remained during the weeks Ketchum was looking into his affairs. Miller also is an official of the International Lumber company, 143 Dearborn street. Bushnell was lured back to Chicago by the directors of the company, who feared they themselves might be in danger of arrest on the same charges. He was told he was needed at a directors' meeting and was arrested as soon as he walked into the building.
The officers of the company, besides Bushnell and Miller are: Vice president, J. H. Prothro; of the Northwestern Dental college; secretary, Edward C. Tyler. The directors are: Judge Edwin F. Carpenter, Janesville, Wis.; Jacob J. Schreiner, Dubuque, Ia.; George H. B. Martin, Camden, N. J.; C. F. Cooley, Madison, Wis.; and Dr. Prothro.

Police Also Make Charges

Other troubles developed for the company during the day. Detective Woodbridge of Chief Collins' staff, who discovered the operations of the firm within the postoffice men began to investigate, but retired when he learned of the action of the government.

A bill for a receiver also was filed against the concern by Attorney William E. O'Neill, acting for twenty stockholders. More sensational charges against Bushnell and Miller are made in this, among them the following:
"After the organization of the company, March 20, 1901, Bushnell, who owned five alleged concessions in Mexico, and a launch and one boat worth $10,000, by reason of his control of the directors, sold the boats and concessions to the company, of which he was president. He received $200,000 worth of capital stock and $200,000 in money."

"All the energies of Bushnell and Miller were directed to the flotation and sale of stock. They declared two dividends of 10 per cent and one of 12 per cent, claiming this was earned, but no money at all was earned on the capital stock."

Women Get Blocks of Stock

Bushnell and Miller used large sums of money for private gain. Bushnell's wife was given $2,500 worth of shares, which she sold for her own gain. Miller's wife was given $1,000 worth of shares, which she sold for her own gain. Bushnell voted to himself 3,350 shares and Miller voted to himself 4,381 shares, which they sold.

Bushnell and Miller paid out in commissions for selling stock $100,000 and $150,000 in advertising. In addition $600,000 has been disbursed with no vouchers. Most of this has been wasted in extravagant living by Bushnell, who used it in Mexico and in New York."

"The said thing about it all," said Attorney O'Neill, "is that most of the stockholders are poor people in Illinois and Wisconsin, who have invested all their savings in the company."

DR. I. H. FOWLE IN
HEAT OF CAMPAIGN

Golf Player Well Known Here Was Arrested in Milwaukee for Pasting Campaign Dodger on Poles.

Dr. Irving H. Fowle of South Milwaukee, who was one of the Green City delegation at the golf tournament held here in June, was a victim of partisan bitterness in politics yesterday. Because he was alleged to have taken a small poster advertising for "District Attorney Francis McGovern, a candidate for re-election, who is opposed by the street car drivers, and to have pasted it on one of the poles supporting the trolley wires, a warrant was sworn out for his arrest on the charge of disorderly conduct. In district court the case was continued one week. Friends of McGovern claim that the interests opposed to him took this method of placing the district attorney in an embarrassing position by compelling him to prosecute one of his henchmen.

THIRTEEN MONTHS OF CIGARETTE LAW

Law Which Prohibits Sale of Papers or Made Article Violated.

The Wisconsin anti-cigarette law, modelled upon the statute passed a little earlier by the Indiana legislature, one of the reform measures, has now been on trial some thirteen months and the verdict is that, while it has utterly failed to even check the sale and consumption of cigarettes, it has brought forth a vast deal of harm in many ways, though it has to some extent stopped the small boy from using them. It has made honest citizens and has in many instances wrought a strong feeling of contempt for law in general as well as for the anti-cigarette law in particular.

In Milwaukee there has never been a time when a cigaret could not be procured with practically no difficulty. The only difference has been that cigarettes have not been displayed in show windows or in counter cases, but they could be obtained none the less at several places. In the city of Madison the state-capital dealers continued to observe the law for some months, until it was found that the students were buying their cigarettes by thousands at outside points and bringing them to that city. Rather than let the profits go into some outside merchant's (ill) they procured cigarettes themselves and the city was stocked up in every locality. As a consequence they have been selling them ever since. The cigarettes are not offered openly, but the dealers carry them in considerable quantities, and the purchaser has only to ask for them and he is supplied. Practically the same conditions prevail in every other city of the size in this state. In some communities it is even possible for boys to buy cigarettes and cigaret papers just as easily as it was before the law was written on the statute book. Many people have grown to regard the law with contempt, still there is yet no very serious talk of securing its repeal. As long as those who want to smoke cigarettes can get them with comparative ease and those who wish to sell them can do so with the same ease there is likely to be more or not the difference as to whether or not the law remains upon the state books.

SPECIAL TERM OF COURT FOR THOSE SEEKING CITIZENSHIP

Will Be Held in Monroe Saturday—
New Naturalization Law Goes Into Effect Next Month.

For the benefit of applicants for final papers establishing their citizenship Judge Dunwiddie will hold a special term of the circuit court in Monroe on Saturday. The new naturalization law with added restrictions materially increase the demand for citizenship papers at this time.

Hugh Circus Program of New and "Novel" Features.

Gymnastic celebrities from every civilized country of the earth are in the enormous program of Ringling Brothers circus this season. Never before were there gathered on a single occasion so many magnificent types of physical culture. Many of the artists appear in this country for the first time, and all are promoters in the land from whence they came.
The women, mostly young and pretty, and compare with the men in feats of skill and daring. The exhibitions of strength and dexterity on the several stages, in the rings, high in the air, on the backs of nettle, some horses, and in devious ways are sensational in the extreme,
and more thrilling than mere words can convey. Ringling Brothers, always alert to the new and superior in circus enterprise, have surpassed their best previous efforts this season in the presentation of exclusive circus features, and the world's elect in athletic culture. Appearing in America for the first time are the Clarksonians and De Kock troupe, whose original gymnastic exploits have placed them to the forefront of all competitors in European countries.
In the same high class are the Col-inial-Cairn troupe, fresh from Parisian triumphs, Frank (Upside Down)
Smith, the aerial Smiths, the Dams Smiths, the DeVenos, the Ernesto sisters, a Normans, Abo trio, Devenos, Young Brothers, a Onnis, Herr Fues, Dacoma family, Nelson, Coniques,
Marguerite and Hanley and Dacoma family.

SOCIALISM TOPIC
OF GEORGE GOEBEL

National Organizer of Social Party
Spoke on Corn Exchange Last Evening.

Two hundred or more people assembled at the Corn Exchange last evening and listened to George H.
Goebel of Newark, New Jersey, national organizer of the Socialist party.
His topic was Socialism and he set forth the doctrine of his cult in a pleasing way. He attacked the system rather than any individuals and said in part: "Socialism is now something that every person knows of for it has reached great strength in Europe and is growing in America. Conditions here did not formerly demand remedies, but labor saving machinery, the accumulation of wealth, etc., have created trusts and corporations. The aristocracy of wealth compares to the aristocracy of nobility; hence Socialism is needed in America. No matter how temperate or saving the working man may be, he cannot hope to be independent, but becomes more and more the slave of the few. Formally, when we had individual production with individual tools and capital, individual ownership was right, but just as we come to use capital and tools together as a matter of common safety we should down them together."

"Those things, such as shoes, clothing, house or carriage, which men use by themselves they should own by themselves, such things as railroads, sugar refineries, coal and iron mines, which they use together, they should either own together or presently be to all intent and purposes the practical slaves of the few who do own them.
Whoever owns a man's job owns the man."

"Not only does Socialism propose the common ownership of these collective businesses, but also the real ownership and control by the working class of the government."

"They have government ownership in Europe and still have poverty, because the people do not control the government. To properly own and control the government we must have the initiative and referendum and right of recall. The first would give us a chance to put any question we wished to a vote of the people, the second would give the people the final word on all laws enacted by our representatives and thus prevent the wholesale giving away of the people's property that we see today, and the third would give us the same right to vote an unfriendly and grafting official out of office as we had to vote him in. Now all we can do is grin and bear it until his term is up."

"Socialism does not interfere with a man's religious belief any more than does the fact of his being a democrat or republican. This is a political and industrial movement made up of men and women of all shades of religious belief. But while not directly religious true religion would be the gainer by its victory. You cannot walk straight in a crooked street, and you cannot have men live the Golden Rule while they fight each other for a job. True brotherhood is impossible so long as men must fight each other for a living. Just as we desire peace among men we will work for an industrial system whereby it is possible and probable."

Socialism and anarchy are at opposite ends of the scale. The anarchist wants the people to own nothing together (not even a postoffice) while the Socialist wants the people to own more together. Socialism does not seek to break up home, but instead to make it possible for every man and woman to have one. Capitalism is fast destroying the home as is proven by the steady increase of divorces, prostitution and wife-desertions, all due to the worry and insecurity of a live-lyhood today. The remedy is not in a better boss. Your employer dare not be generous to his slaves, you more wages his competitor being able to produce cheaper will undersell him and force him into bankruptcy, so stop cussing the boss or Rockefeller and go after the system that makes a man skin or be skinned. The remedy is not in saving or being temperate, for otherwise how do you explain that the very men that waste money, and live the most dissipated and immoral lives (as witness the daily paper) the multi-millionaires have all that man could desire? Let the nation own the trusts! Then every child will have an education, every man a job and all ease and comfort in their old age."

Prosperity of Leyden
Farmers Evicted by New Buildings in Erection

Crops This Year Are Excellent and Portend Height of Successful Farming.

Farmers in the vicinity of Leyden have certainly enjoyed prosperity in the last few years and the result is being evidenced by a large number of new buildings. C. E. Dunham is erecting a new tobacco shed. Herman Bays Brothers are building a new shed and John Kennedy is constructing a new hay barn. The crops this year are better than ever and the height of success will no doubt be reached. The corn and potatoes have never been better, there was scarcely any hail damage in the tobacco fields and the only crops which might have been better, but still were good,
were the small grains.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a

PLANS BETTERMENT
OF THE RIVER BANK

F. F. Pierson Would Have the Banks Reinforced with Heavy Piling and Trees.

F. F. Pierson, who lives on the East bank of the river above the Milwan-kee street bridge, is using his best efforts to get the property owners along the West side of North Main street to drive piles along the bank of the river and fill in behind them with dirt. Should he be successful the bank along the river will be greatly improved and will be a much pleasanter sight from the bridge than it is at present. He says should such a thing be done the property owners could plant willows and other trees along the bank, which would hide the rear of the stores from the bridge and make the inside of the buildings cooler in summer.

A LIFE STORY IN UNCLASSIFIED ADS

CHAPTER XXIV.

The child of the household in school had been entered.

For one of her years very fast she progressed. But there was a reason—perhaps you have guessed.

Said the father, "She's taught in a 'Classified School'."

Whatever we want, it is always our rule To use Gazette Want Ads; 'twas thus we procured.

The best of instructors; of that we're assured.

Quite plainly we show by this little rhyme That Gazette Want Ads are the best all the time; They touch the right spot and the right answers bring; That's why their virtues we constantly sing.

...FORTY YEARS AGO...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Thursday, August 23, 1886.—What is the Reason.

The giver at Cincinnati is of a light green color, and does not have whole some odor. Families are required to boil it for drinking. There are many theories to account for the greenness of the water, but none of them are satisfactory. The same fact is noticeable in Rock River water.

The State Fair.—From conversation with gentlemen conversant with the feeling in relation to the State Fair, we are led to conclude that the prospect is favorable for one of the largest fairs ever held in the State. The interest in it seems to be quite general, and we may therefore look not only for a large display of articles and stock but an attendance beyond that of any former year.

A Bit of a Spree.—A fellow whose name we did not learn, got somewhat inebriated last night, and went to the Schuyler House to stay. He retired to bed, but during the night got up and in his dizziness tore down the window curtains, threw the looking glass out of the window and then jumped out himself, taking glass and sash with him, but neglecting to take his pants. Although he was running around the street but a short time in this unique and original costume, he left his card so as to enable people to get wind of him.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

perience. His first appearance before the footlights was as a boy of nine in a Shakespearean production at the Theatre Royal, Winchester, England, in May, 1851, and he has been in the service ever since.

BECOMING A MOTHER

Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. Not only does Mother's Friend carry women safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents "morning sickness," and other discomforts of this period. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Book containing valuable information free.

Janesville people are interested in the outcome of the Tabasco-Chilapras Trading and Transportation Company financially and otherwise.
As the time draws near for the primary the great benefits described by the orators of two years ago are being clearly demonstrated.
Crickets are said to be a sign of good luck, but when they come in swarms as they have the past day or two they are a nuisance, not good luck.
Rock river is not half enough appreciated. It is a beautiful stream and should be liberally patronized these hot nights by launches and boats.
Governor Davidson appears to be making friends on his automobile trip through the western part of the state. It is either making friends or renewing old acquaintances.
The question of holding up post offices as political plums for labor performed is a thing that should be condemned. Do so by voting against the man who aids and abets such a practice.
The cool breeze that was promised from the wilds of Medicine Hat has not as yet developed into anything like a change in temperature. Faith in the weather man is causing serious doubts in the minds of many.
Campaigning in automobiles appears to be the proper stunt this year. La Follette set the pace two years ago. Davidson followed it this year and now Nolan is making time and votes in Walworth county with a speed car.
In selecting Nolan as their standard-bearer for the congressional nomination the republicans of the first district can make no mistake. He is an honest, able and conscientious worker for the interests of his constituents.
Hetty Green, the richest woman in the world, has a new plaything, her son who seeks to win the Governorship of Texas on the republican ticket. If money will do it and Hetty will loosen her purse-strings perhaps the world will see a republican governor of the Lone Star state yet.
Now President Gompers of the Federation of Labor takes a jump on Congressman Cooper's neck. Who next? Mr. Gompers cannot be accused of being a disappointed office-seeker in Wisconsin by the Beloit Free Press.
Farmers growing tobacco and sugar beets know whether the Philippine tariff bill would cripple their mainstays or not. They are the ones to judge, not men who do not know the difference between sugar beets and tobacco when growing in the field. The Wisconsin Tobacco Men's Association repudiated the Philippine bill and have condemned Cooper for voting for it. This should be argument against the retention of a man who voted to pass it.
The Clinton Herald says that in all the dirty scandals and exposures made during the past year in Congress Mr. Cooper's name has not been connected with them. Is this strictly true? How about his battle on the floor of the house with Congressman Dalzell, over intemperate language he used in debate and his repudiation by a decisive vote of the house, a thing which has never occurred to another republican congressman when his party was in power? Read the congressional records, Mr. Editor; do not take anyone else's word for it.
SPECULATION CRAZE
The craze for speculation, the get-rich-quick proposition, the scheme to make money out of anything and everything, turn sea waves into electricity, dirty black earth in fine burning coal, chain the elements so that they can be controlled at the will of man continually, get their dupes. Why? Because every new scheme presented to the public is placed in such a glibbie form, the bait is so tempting, the returns so certain, that the poor investor is flattered, dreams of a home like Vanderbilt, a yacht like a Gould, and ends up with an appetite like Rockefeller—none at all. Just so long as these fly-by-night companies are allowed to exist just so long will poor widows and orphans, laboring men and clerks, seek to chase the golden bubble to find it disappear into the thin air.

BATTLE ROYAL
The battle royal, which is now going on between the forces of Irvine L. Lenroot and Governor James Davidson is better in the extreme. La Follette claims he is supporting Lenroot because the need of an attorney in the gubernatorial chair is essential to the welfare of the reforms he has started. Davidson replies that he is a business man, that this is just as essential as a lawyer in the Governor's chair. Friends of Davidson claim that Lenroot is not a lawyer, but a court stenographer, and not admitted to practice law in any court. These are two of the arguments pro and con that are being discussed freely these hot days before audiences of perspiring voters. La Follette, in Lenroot's interests, is touring the state and making as hard a campaign as he ever did in his own interests. Hoard, Bashford, Castle and others are supporting Davidson. McGillivray, who was a candidate for the nomination, but dropped out, is also doing yeoman service. He is Lenroot alone in his fight. He has strong men who are telling the voters how to cast their ballot and the reasons for so telling them. There is, however, one noticeable feature of the whole campaign—the entire absence of the oldtime, so-called conservative faction from the fight. Senator La Follette brings it into use in his arguments against Davidson, by saying they are going to support him and hence vote for Lenroot, but the Davidson leaders take no notice of them. The balance of power appears to lie in their hands. With the La Follette faction split between Davidson and Lenroot, the democrats rallying all their forces for a fight of a decade, the poor despised conservative can sit back and smile and watch the fun. He has a vote as well as all the rampant, tearing, Shakespeare-aving politicians who seek to rule or ruin the state and his vote will balance one of the opposition as one pound balances another on a delicate scale. He can sit back and enjoy the fun. The primary law gives the conservative papers their opportunity to profit at the expense of others. They do not need to exclaim "I told you so," for the radical candidates are already doing this themselves. They can simply enjoy the scrap from a five-dollar reserved seat and laugh at both sides. Senator La Follette fills his addresses with self-praise; tells how honest he is, how he did not have but money enough to come home with after his three terms in congress, but he fails to say that he rode on a pass on that memorable trip and then collected his railway fare per mile from Uncle Sam. Davidson explains he is only a straightforward business man and upon this basis asks support of the voters. John Alward, one of the democratic aspirants, says his opponent is no democrat and Senator Merton admits he believes in radical reforms. Thus it goes and with less than two weeks of the great political wrangle of Wisconsin is continuing.

PRESS COMMENT
Need Quick Burial
Green Bay Gazette: Isn't it about time that Skidoo and 23 were given a much needed rest?
Plenty of Apples Promised
Exchange: Along with all the other bumper crops this season it is announced there is to be a generous crop of apples. Thus does luxury crowd on plenty.
On the Billiard-Table Road-bed
Rockford Register-Gazette: Another paper has figured it out why there is always one flat wheel on every street car. It enables you to tell when the car is moving.
Commendation
Sheboygan Journal: Sheboygan's Austrian colony raised the flag of Austria Sunday. This was a good deal more agreeable for the rest of the citizens than raising Cain.
Nothing to Sneer At Milwaukee Sentinel: Mr. La Follette sneers at Gov. Davidson as a "storekeeper." Still, some pretty capable public men have been drawn from the business class, senator.
Very Narrow Basis
Green Bay Gazette: Now there bobs up a man who asks a separation from his wife because she has become fleshy. Isn't a fat wife, however, a thin excuse for seeking divorce?
Wellman's Plans in Dispute
Exchange: There seems to be some kind of dispute whether Walter Wellman has decided to abandon his proposed trip to the pole this season or not. Some of the correspondents seem to know more about Wellman's plans than he does himself.
The Canadian Wheat Crop
Superior Telegram: The Canadian wheat crop this season is estimated to reach 100,000,000 bushels—and some estimates are considerably in excess of those figures. However, the world's wheat crop is short this year and prices will be fair.

$400,000,000 in Autos
Oshkosh Northwestern: It is estimated that the people of this country have spent more than $400,000,000 on automobiles during the past three or four years. Of course this is a sign of a very gratifying condition of prosperity, but whether it shows real wisdom on the part of the people is another question.
They'll Vote as They Please Evening Wisconsin: Many of the people who are interested by Senator La Follette's election and who cheer his well turned periods, will not surrender their right to reflect, and will vote on September 4 not as they are urged to vote, but as they believe they ought to vote in the interest of the state. The independent judgment of the people of Wisconsin is the great obstacle against which the energetic promoter of the Lenroot-Strange campaign finds himself obliged to contend, and his task is made more difficult by the peculiar record of Lenroot and the artless volubility of Strange.

The Puzzling Primary
Fond du Lac Commonwealth: New kinks are being discovered in the primary election law right along and some of them are proving puzzlers, even for the attorney general. The clause relating to the election of committeemen is one of these, and Attorney General Sturdevant after studying it to the best of his ability frankly admits that he doesn't know just what it means anyhow. When the attorney general gives it up there is small chance of the lay voter even making so much as a guess.
In the Far East
Marquette Eagle-Star: Since the killing of Lieut. James and two privates of the 8th Infantry, with Surgeons Snyder and Revenue Collector Williams, in a hand-to-hand fight with the Pulajanes, in the island of Leyte, the American forces have renewed their campaign against the natives with vigor. The island has been virtually placed under martial law and divided into military districts to facilitate the work of the troops. There will be a lot of good Pulajanes there pretty soon.

Newspapers Part of Government
Madison Journal: That newspapers are a part of the government is the view taken by an eastern jurist, Judge Sulzberger of the Philadelphia court of pleas, in resisting the desire of the grand jury to indict a street-cleaning contractor, announced the doctrine that the newspapers are a fundamental part of the government. "If a member of the grand jury has any criticism to make of administrative matters," he said, "he should go to a newspaper with them, and not endeavor to transfer the grand jury into a machine for investigations on its own account." He said that the constitution recognizes the press as a critical agent, and that it is their duty to find out evils and bring them to the attention of the proper authorities.
POLITICS AND POLITICIANS
A boom has been launched for John D. Benedict for governor of Oklahoma. He is now superintendent of the Indian Territory schools.
The familiar campaign poster bearing the face of the political candidate may be a scarce article in the coming campaign, owing to the spreading of the lithographers' strike.
Miss E. Mal Davidson, of Long Pine, Neb., is the democratic nominee for county attorney in her county. She is probably the first woman to be named for this office in the United States.
Maryland republicans are inclined to bestow the next nomination for governor on Charles J. Bonaparte, secretary of the navy. Mr. Bonaparte apparently is not inclined to encourage the movement.
Secretary Shaw, after touring the state, is of the opinion that Missouri is likely to be the hottest battleground of all this year's political campaigns. The democrats plan to bring in Mr. Bryan and other national leaders to defeat the efforts the republicans are making to carry the state.
The Sixteenth congressional district of Texas, which has just renominated Judge William Robert Smith, is the largest in area in the United States. It is 600 miles long by 400 miles wide. It includes fifty-seven counties and is larger than the entire New England states.
Logan M. Bullitt, the coal company president who was conspicuous in the recent interstate commission inquiry into the hard coal situation, has announced his candidacy for congress to succeed Edward Morrell of the Fifth Pennsylvania district, who has declined a renomination.

The anti-Mormon plank of the platform adopted by the recent democratic state convention in Idaho pledges the democratic party to secure the enactment of legislation necessary to make operative the "test oath" provided by the constitution of Idaho, which in effect would disfranchise all faithful Mormons.
It is understood that when the democratic convention of the Second West Virginia district meets early next month it will nominate former Senator Henry Gassaway Davis, the candidate for vice-president in 1904, Senator Davis' opponent on the republican ticket will be George C. Sturgis, who also is a veteran miner and coal man.
The election in Maine next month is expected to give the first line on the probable results of the congressional elections throughout the country in November. Oregon, which holds its election in June, sometimes tells the story, but this year the election in that state gave no indication of how the wind blows. But it is believed that the result of the contest in Maine will foreshadow the general result.

If the four congressmen from Maine are re-elected by normal majorities, Chairman Sherman will venture to declare with confidence that the rest of the country is safely anchored to its republican moorings. But if the majorities of the four Maine congressmen should be cut down, or if one at least of them should be defeated, democratic campaign stock surely will go up with a rush.
LEMONADE POPULAR; FRUIT PRICE JUMPS
Sold at $5.50 a Box Last Week and Are Now $8.00—Butter Also at High Figure.
Hot weather has resulted in a sudden popularity of lemonade; a great demand for lemons, a big and quick jump in price. Last week lemons at wholesale sold at $5.50 and now they sell at $8.00. Many other grocery store goods are high. Butter at retail costs 27 cents a pound here, the merchants being compelled to pay half a cent more for creamy butter than the Elgin market price and there being no dairy butter on the market. In Chicago eggs are high, the wholesale price being 19 cents. Here the retail is 18 cents, the farmers securing 16 and 17 cents. Fruit of all kinds is particularly dear and peaches cost much more than usual.
According to statistics of the bureau of labor retail prices of food have advanced steadily since 1890, when the bureau first began to keep a tab. In 1890, the year of the lowest prices, the average cost of food per family was $298.76 per year, while in 1905 it was $394.27.
The prices on the various products have advanced as follows: Bacon has advanced 43.5 per cent since 1890; potatoes, 43.1 per cent; eggs, 41.8 per cent; dry or pickled pork, 39.9 per cent; fresh pork, 30 per cent; flour, 24.3 per cent; cornmeal, 25.6 per cent. Wages were higher in 1905 than in 1904 by 1.6 per cent.

Malta-Vita
No Cooking—Ready to Eat
You don't have to "prepare" Malta-Vita in any way, or do anything to make it better. It couldn't be any better than it is when it comes to you in the big air-tight, moisture-proof packages. That's because Malta-Vita, the only malted whole-wheat food, is made just right, always "short" and crisp and ready to eat. Every little flake is a whole grain of malted wheat that simply melts in the mouth. Get some Malta-Vita today. Eat it with milk or cream or fresh fruit.

FOR THE OFFICE OF CLERK OF THE CIRCUIT COURT
Ward A. Stevens, candidate for renomination for a second term, at the primaries to be held on September 4th, has received substantially the unanimous indorsement of the lawyers of Rock County. The significance of this indorsement lies in the fact that practically all of the business of the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court is transacted with the attorneys of the county, and their satisfaction with the conduct of the affairs of that office would indicate that Mr. Stevens ought to be re-elected. The indorsement is as follows:
We, the undersigned practicing attorneys in Rock County, Wisconsin, and members of the Rock County Bar, do hereby certify that the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court, Rock County, Wisconsin, has been conducted in a manner satisfactory to us, during the term of the present incumbent. Dated July 19, 1906.
A. A. Jackson, Edward H. Ryan, B. F. Dunwiddie, E. A. Avery, Thos. S. Nolan, H. L. Maxwell, C. W. Reader, Charles E. Pierce, B. M. Palmer, John M. Whitehead, William G. Wheeler, M. G. Jeffris, J. C. Reed, T. D. Woolsey, Wilson Lane, W. H. Dougherty, Ogden H. Fellers, Wm. Smith, Ray W. Clarke, O. A. Oestreich.
An official who has conducted an office in a manner satisfactory to those with whom he has to deal, honestly and efficiently, ought, in fairness to himself and to the constituents whom he represents, be accorded a renomination for at least a second term. Since 1893 only four different persons, including the present incumbent, have held this office by election. Each of the clerks have been re-elected several times. In view of the fact that the Circuit Judgeship changes on January 1, 1907, it is important that the official who has in charge all of the records of the Circuit Court, should not also be changed at that time.

KICKERS' KOLUM.
Tobacco Juice on Skirts
Kick Editor: This is just a roast on the loafers who hang about the street corners from morning till late at night, making themselves obnoxious to the general public and damaging the appearance of the town. They are a disgrace to the city and besides insulting passersby make the streets filthy with tobacco expectorations. Last evening the limit was reached when one (I do not suppose purposely) spat upon the white duck skirt of a woman. I have heard of several other instances, and by this communication ask the police to enforce the anti-spitting ordinance and do all they can to keep the loafers off the corners.
N. OTTO KRONKICHER.
Leaves Streets Dirty?
Editor Kickers' Kolum: I wish to answer Ves Amer, who protested so loudly against the practice of washing windows and sweeping sidewalks between the hours of seven and eight in the morning. Does he imagine the clerks are going to get to work before six in the morning? Or does he care about the health of the workman who passes over the same streets between six and seven. His health can be menaced just as well as can that of Ves Amer. The sweepers and window-washers who do not have every consideration for pedestrians are the exceptions that prove the rule. If they did not cease wielding the broom hundreds of times and wait about "rubbing" down their windows the work could be done in half the time it now takes. The shopkeepers' rights must not be forgotten, for every one of them is a taxpayer. How about all the pedestrians? Then too, all should be encouraged in cleanliness.

Just Like a Story.
Byssus, of which fine, iridescent stockings and shawls are made in Sicily, is a silk made by a fish. The pulna is a Mediterranean shellfish that has an odd little tube at the end of its tongue. Out of this tube, spider-fashion, or silkworm-fashion, it spins a silk thread, with which it fastens itself to any rock that it wishes to adhere to. When the pulna moves on its fastenings, its silken cable remain behind. This cable, which is called byssus, the Sicilian fishermen gather. Byssus weaves into the softest, finest, sheenest of fabrics, but it is very rare and expensive. Popular Science Siftings.

Legends of the Kingfisher.
Many and curious are the legends of the kingfisher. One of these is to the effect that the bird was originally a plain gray in color, but upon being let loose from the ark, toward the setting sun and had its back stained blue by the sky and its lower plumage scorched by the sun to gorgeous hues. The dried body of the kingfisher was once used as a charm against thunderbolts and moths, and it was hung up so that it might point with its bill to the wind's quarter.
A Second Thief.
"Some mean thief ran off with the umbrella I had to-day," began Pincher, and
"Say!" exclaimed Knox, "don't you know it's a sign of approaching mental trouble to leave out words that way?"
"What word did I leave out?"
"The word 'other' before 'mean'." Explained.
"I thought you said champagne would flow like water at one of Copergill's dinners," said the difficult guest.
"Well," answered the charitable man, "you see he comes from a part of the country where they depend on irrigation and water is scarce, and precious."
Obliging.
"So," said Mr. Goldbons, severely, "so young man, you want to marry my daughter, eh? What is your salary?"
The young man's answer was meek and respectful.
"Whatever you think I'm worth, sir," he said.
His Usual Luck.
"Now, then," said the leader of the mob to the horsethief, "if you've got anything to say before we swing you off the back, about it."
"Nothin' ter say," replied the culprit, "except that this is me usual luck wid horses. I lose be a neck."

AMERPOHL WON THE HIGHEST AWARDS
Janesville Florist Takes Prize With His New Fern At Convention.
Mrs. Amerpohl this afternoon received a telegram that her husband has been awarded the certificate of merit worthy of the highest award for the best novelty in the florists convention now in session in Dayton Ohio for his fern the Nephrolepis-Amerpohlii. This is a signal victory for the local exhibitor.
Milk Displacing Alcohol.
In a speech at the Bishopsgate institute, Sir Victor Horsley gave some remarkable figures to show how the use of alcohol in hospitals is declining. In 1862 nearly 40,000 was spent on alcohol in the London hospitals and $1,000 in milk; in 1902 the situation was almost exactly reversed.
Helping Out Others.
Atlas shifted wearily to the other foot. "If I can only continue to hold up the world until a few trust magnates are born," he said, "they will help a lot."
Men Carry Great Weights.
No draft animal is asked to carry so great a load in proportion to its own weight and size, as some men saddle themselves with. Turkish porters in Constantinople often carry more than their own weight, and the Indians and Eskimo who acted as pack carriers in Alaska, when the gold field rushes made the demand for transportation imperative, used to do the same thing at times.

On the Island of Portland, in the south of England, there are certain quarries of limestone, which have been worked for many years, in former times producing building stone. In 1824 an Englishman named Joseph Asplin, of Leeds, patented a process for mixing and burning lime and clay. The product looked so much like the Portland limestone that he called it "Portland cement," from which commonly known name given to nearly all kinds of hydraulic cement was derived.
Product of the Times.
The well bred man of pleasure is gradually dying out and giving place to the tearing, rushing, money grabbing, excitement hunting, slangy, mannerless, selfish devotee of horse-flesh and chorus girls, we meet so often in the drawing-rooms of duchesses and countesses to-day.—M. A. P.

An official who has conducted an office in a manner satisfactory to those with whom he has to deal, honestly and efficiently, ought, in fairness to himself and to the constituents whom he represents, be accorded a renomination for at least a second term. Since 1893 only four different persons, including the present incumbent, have held this office by election. Each of the clerks have been re-elected several times. In view of the fact that the Circuit Judgeship changes on January 1, 1907, it is important that the official who has in charge all of the records of the Circuit Court, should not also be changed at that time.

FOR THE OFFICE OF CLERK OF THE CIRCUIT COURT
Ward A. Stevens, candidate for renomination for a second term, at the primaries to be held on September 4th, has received substantially the unanimous indorsement of the lawyers of Rock County. The significance of this indorsement lies in the fact that practically all of the business of the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court is transacted with the attorneys of the county, and their satisfaction with the conduct of the affairs of that office would indicate that Mr. Stevens ought to be re-elected. The indorsement is as follows:
We, the undersigned practicing attorneys in Rock County, Wisconsin, and members of the Rock County Bar, do hereby certify that the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court, Rock County, Wisconsin, has been conducted in a manner satisfactory to us, during the term of the present incumbent. Dated July 19, 1906.

DECISION WILL BE RATHER HARD

VIA MILTON JUNCTION OR INDIAN FORD FOR MADISON INTERURBAN.

BOTH ARE NATURAL ROUTES

Clough Will Soon Present Franchise to Janesville Council—Question of Power Source.

Surveyors at work on the measuring and arranging of possible routes between Janesville and Edgerton for the new Madison interurban have nearly completed their work. Two very excellent rights-of-way are proposed. One is via Milton Junction and the other through Indian Ford. The matter of deciding which to accept will be hard, for both are good and have their features. At the junction a loop has been surveyed and residents there have taken much hope, believing that this will be used to run cars between there and Janesville before the line to Edgerton is completed. Mr. Clough, who is at the head of the enterprise, was in the city this morning and spoke most enthusiastically of both routes.

The Indian Ford route follows the road generally, but in the Cox home-estate it splits in eighty acres diagonally the long way. The Hubbel and Seams farms are also cut in two. At the Ford the survey crosses the Babcock property on the eastern limit of the village, a twenty-five-foot cut being necessary to get through the bluff. The line then crosses the Milton road, cuts north across the river and then goes up a narrow ravine and strikes the Edgerton road at the home of G. W. Coxhead. Another route under consideration goes up the river after crossing and strikes across the country in the vicinity of Peters' slaughterhouse.

Few Engineering Difficulties.

The routes under consideration have but few engineering difficulties. Easy grades can be secured the entire distance and no sharp curves will be permitted. He will have the very best construction possible and a sixteen-foot roadbed. It will cost a lot of money, probably more expensive than any other line in the state, but when completed it will have an equipment that will permit an express train to cover the distance between Madison and Janesville in one hour, which is faster time than any of the steam roads make it. The design is to have fast express cars leave every hour and local trains midway between, so that a half-hour schedule will be maintained.

Power from The Dells.

"For some time we have been at work on the franchise which we will present to the Janesville council," Mr. Clough says. "It will soon be completed and presented with the general demand for the road we expect to get a square deal."

The promoters are figuring with the Kilbourn Water Power Co. for the current used in transmission for the fifty miles of road. If their price is as reasonable as can be made from steam it is quite probable the line will be operated by the power generated at the Dells of the Wisconsin, transmitted at high tension and reduced at substations to the voltage needed.

FIRST SHAKESPEAREAN PLAY TO BE SEEN HERE IN YEAR

Will be Presented by William Owen and His Company at the Myers Theatre Tonight.

Janesville has not had a Shakespearean performance for over a year now and it will be interesting to note what sort of a reception will be given "Romeo and Juliet" by William Owen and his company this evening. With the exception of the elaborate production of Sheridan's "School for Scandal" which he starred in several seasons ago, Mr. Owen has devoted himself almost exclusively to the works of the great master. Margaret Morrison plays "Juliet," Miss Keough, the nurse; Harrington Farr, "Mercutio," the veteran actor, J. W. McConnell, "Friar Lawrence," his son, J. Willis McConnell, "Peter" and the apothecary; and Grace G. Wyndon, formerly engaged in newspaper reporting for the Madison Journal, "Lady Capulet."

DELIVERIES MADE OF THE WINTER'S FUEL

Delivery of Orders Now Gives Dealers Opportunity to Put More in Storage—Rate High Yet no Shortage is in Sight.

Hard coal is being delivered all over Janesville now, the dealers filling their early orders as fast as the men and wagons can load and unload.

Orders were placed almost from the time furnaces went out last spring and stocks have been ordered on that basis, the coal arriving recently in such supply that it has become necessary to move it from the shortage shed to make room for what is to come.

In every portion of the city wagons are seen, often in pairs, delivering the black diamonds, two drivers going to gether, where the delivery is sufficiently large, the one shoveling and the other carrying by turns.

Hundreds of tons are being stored in cellars, against the demands of winter at the present time, and the stocks in sheds along railroads will show the effects of this depletion in a short time. Additional carloads will be received from now on and the supply kept up to the mark.

There seems to be no danger of a shortage here this fall and winter, as the dealers are in excellent shape and plentiful supplies are promised. Men and teams have no rest now and hard coal is moving as never before.

Coke has become a favorite fuel in recent years, mixed with the hard coal or burned alone and many tons of this accompany the hard coal into coal bins all over the city. The fuel companies all supply this and find sale for their output among those who have learned its heating value and low price.

It seems somewhat of a hardship to have coal and ice expense coming at the same time, but the early bird catches the worm and the man who delays will worry while the man with his coal safely into his cellar will rest content and know that he is safe against any emergency that winter may have to offer.

The activity of delivery just now has given employment to all the teams, wagons and men the fuel companies can muster and as this will continue until cold weather, a labor field is opened up that will give employment and absorb many who may be looking for work.

CRICKETS SWARM IN ALL PARTS OF CITY

Unwelcome Insects Visit the City after Seven Years—Brought Here by the Rains.

Did you ever hear of a seven-year cricket?

The seven-year locust is a tale in song and story, but the seven-year cricket is a reality in Janesville today.

Black stains on many walks mark the places where the ruthless foot of man, or the daintier foot of woman, has trampled into nothingness thousands of these insects, or slipped as it on a banana peel. The rarity of their visit has not secured for them a welcome reception. And the imprecations of those whose duties it is to sweep off the walks in front of places illuminated at night by electric light must be added to the burdens which the seven-year cricket has to bear.

Can't Kill 'em Off.

However, there are enough of them, so they can stand it. Myriads perhaps have been killed, but myriads more are living to blacken the sidewalks in the evening with their dusky bodies.

Where did they come from?

What are they?

How long are they to stay?

Only after some searching could a man be found who would attempt to answer these questions. At length, however, one joy scientist committed himself so far as to say that they came from the marshes, brought here by the rain, that they came in swarms, would stay about two weeks, and would then depart.

Here Seven Years Ago.

It is seven years since Janesville has had a similar visitation from the cricket hordes. To call them crickets is somewhat misleading, for they are not the ordinary soft-backed kind with whose chirping everyone is familiar. These insects have a hard shell and so perhaps a better name than that which has been used would be the hard-shell cricket, corresponding to the hard-shell crab.

These crickets are not of the musical variety. Their voices rise not in announcement of the joy of living in the merry tones of the ordinary cricket, or in the sombre melancholia of the pollywog. These crickets discreetly keep silence, preferring to make their presence felt by their numberousness rather than by an undue amount of noise.

Rain Probably Agent.

It may be, as one man explained, that they came down with the rain. But as no one has been discovered who felt a cricket drop on his umbrella or his hat during the recent storms it becomes necessary to believe that these crickets are merely rising out of the marshy places, and paying us their septennial call.

AUTOPSY ON BODY OF LATE E. D. ROBERTS

Will Not Lead, It is Believed, to Damage Suit Against Lakeside Hospital, Chicago.

While all of the friends and relatives of the late Dr. E. D. Roberts, state veterinarian, are by no means entirely satisfied that death from the operation he underwent in the Lakeside hospital, Chicago, was inevitable—that all possible skill, precaution, and attention was given him—it is hardly likely that a suit for damages will be brought against that institution. The first operation by Dr. William H. Harsha was for a rupture and it was given out that the patient died of intestinal paralysis while a second desperate and almost hopeless operation to relieve this condition was in progress. After the casket was lowered into the grave at Mount cemetery, near Racine, and the mourners had departed, it was raised and removed to a vault where an autopsy was performed by three prominent Racine physicians. The physicians in Racine stated that they set forth their opinion that death was caused by peritonitis, but owing to the changes brought by the embalming process they were unable to venture any positive opinion as to whether or not the peritonitis had been brought on by improper incisions or infection caused by the use of unclean surgical instruments. David Roberts of Waukesha, a brother of the deceased, and Grant U. Fisher went to Chicago yesterday and looked over the records of the case at the Lakeside hospital. The autopsy was performed with the consent of Mrs. Roberts, the father, and the brother. Mrs. Roberts when interviewed at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. G. Gittings, in Racine last night said that she knew of no action having been taken with regard to a suit and that if such action should be taken it would be through other relatives.

MORE CLAIMS FOR DAMAGES ARE FILED

H. and J. Breitwieser and John Souleman and F. J. Mount Ask Total of $1,450.

Notice of a claim against the city for damages amounting to $1,000 on tobacco stored in L. B. Carle's warehouse on West Milwaukee street and for the expenses of re-handling the same was filed by H. & J. Breitwieser through their attorneys, Fetters, Jeffris & Mount, at the city clerk's office this morning. The claim is alleged to have been injured by the flooding of the premises with water and it is alleged that inadequate and defective sewers, the clogging and stoppage thereof by reason of the negligent and unlawful diversion of surface water to the place where said premises are located in quantities greater than the sewers provided for the same were and are able to carry off, was responsible for the flood. For damage to tobacco warehouse scales, tools and implements in the building known as the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul tobacco warehouse, located at the intersection of Milwaukee and Madison streets, John Souleman and F. J. Mount also filed a claim through Fetters, Jeffris & Mount for $450 damages.

SOME ADVICE GIVEN AS TO PRIMARY LAW

How Citizens Should Register Their Choice for Party Committees.

How are the party committees to be selected under the primary election? This question is being frequently asked as the time for the primary election draws near. Very few voters, however, appear to understand how these committees are to be selected, and we therefore give this brief statement of the law in order that all may be advised on the subject.

Every voter at the primary election should write the names of three qualified electors of his precinct on his ballot in the blank spaces left for that purpose. The three having the highest number of votes shall constitute the precinct committee, and the one having the largest vote shall be the chairman of the precinct committee.

Where there is but one precinct in a ward the precinct chairman is also the ward chairman. But where there is more than one precinct in a ward the precinct committees elect one of the precinct chairmen as ward chairman.

The county committee shall consist of the several ward, town and village chairmen, who shall meet and elect their own officers. It will be observed from the foregoing that the important thing for every voter to keep in mind is to write the names of the three electors whom he desires as his precinct committee on his primary ballot. When the precinct committees have been so selected by the voters the other committees are provided for under the law.

This is the feature no wonder discussion and which the attorney general says he gives up as another provision seems to conflict.

GAME PLENTIFUL IN STATE THIS YEAR

Deer, Fish and Birds Increase as Result of Protection in Past Years.

Due to the careful and persistent labors of Wisconsin game wardens, a steady increase in all varieties of game is reported by State Warden Jonas Swenholt. Deer are said to be plentiful in Florence, Forest and the southern part of Sawyer counties. Game fish and birds are also said to be numerous, and it is expected that many hunters will avail themselves of the opportunity. Three deer licenses at $25 each and 11 small game licenses at $10 have been taken out at the office of the state game warden. Thus far 351 prosecutions have resulted as the work of the game wardens throughout the state, compared with 269 for the whole of last year's hunting season. The open season for small game begins September 1st.

CHAPTER XI.
THE INQUISITION OF JIMMY FITZ.

"JIMMY FITZ."

Jimmy Fitz—dare's sump'n dola' in dere, 'ho explaine.

James Fitzgerald, of the secret service, terror of the crook, idol of the gamins, was a clean-shaven man with close-cropped iron-gray hair and a pair of quiet blue eyes. He walked along quietly, listening to young Chaudron. Jimmy Fitz always listened; it was a dogma of his religion to let the other fellow do the talking. The fellow that talks always pulls the laboring oar, thought Jimmy Fitz. If he had not known young Chaudron so well, Jimmy Fitz might have been inclined to laugh. He hadn't much faith in excitements raised by a lot of women.

"Better sit down there, Casey, and kind o' notice things," he pointed his companion to one of the green benches in the court, while he himself followed Felix Chaudron up the stairs.

Casey took his seat negligently in the courtyard, at the table where Victor Labouisse had been sitting, and picked up a newspaper. The parrot chattered, the pigeons strutted, the fountain splashed, and Casey's careless eye took in what little there was to be seen.

Chaudron led Jimmy Fitz into the rear hall. Victor was still standing there talking to Woodford Vance.

"Have you heard anything?" Felix questioned anxiously.

"Not a word; it's the most remarkable thing I ever ran across."

"This is Capt. Fitzgerald, Mr. Vance; I brought him because it's better to be as quiet about this as we can."

Fitz shook hands cordially with both Victor and Vance.

"What's all this trouble about, Mr. Labouisse?" Fitzgerald questioned, in his good-natured way that always disarmed suspicion; those transparent blue eyes of his seemed very childlike and trustful.

"It is one great foolishness, Monsieur Fitz; two young ladies come here last night—yes, take a room. This morning they say they had lost their muzzers—yes, very an' zey search my house. I haf many times already determine zat I take only gentlemen in my house, and—"

"Where is their mother?"

"Ze good God, in Heaven—Ho know."

Fitzgerald turned to Chaudron.

"Let me speak to the young ladies."

"They're in their room; I'll call them," suggested Vance, as he went back and knocked on their door.

Anita opened the door, tall, straight and fearless.

"Have you found her?" she asked instantly; then she saw from Vance's face that he had not.

"No; the police are here; they want to see you and Miss Ashton."

Alice sprang up from the bed and ran to the door. "What is it? What is it?"

"The police," Anita answered, quietly.

"Oh!" Alice covered her face; the police made the situation so real, so very terrible. She sat down helplessly.

"Come," Anita took the girl's hand and led her into the hall.

"Here is Capt. Fitzgerald," said Chaudron; "he wants to ask you a few questions."

Fitzgerald was very courteous and very delicate for so rough a man. He asked a number of questions, and learned nothing more than Chaudron had already told him. Mrs. Ashton went to sleep last night in a big bed with green silk curtains hung all around it. This morning she could not be found; that was all the two girls knew.

"Which room was that in, miss?"

Again Anita pointed to the door with the broken knob; again, Alice shook her head. Fitzgerald looked from one to the other, puzzled and tolerant. He had the door opened.

From the outside Anita always felt certain that this was the room. But every time the door was opened and she looked in, she felt that she might be mistaken. Alice was very positive that she had not left her mother in this room.

"Why, there was a big green bed over here in this corner," Alice insisted, "and a piece of tanstry hung right here, with a Crusader on it—right where this door is." She pointed to a pair of white sliding doors striped with gold. The room that mother was in didn't have a door like this at all. And there was an old cabinet; Anita, you remember that cabinet?

Anita nodded. Yes, she remembered all those things, but she walked to the door and looked up and down the hall again.

"It was the first door to the right as we came into the hall," she asserted positively.

"It's very queer," Fitz whispered to Chaudron; then he turned to Anita in the hall.

"When did you get to New Orleans, miss?"

"Our train was late; we must have reached this house about 11 o'clock."

"Last night?"

"Last night."

"How did you come, in a cab or in a car?"

"A cab."

"Do you remember the number of the cab?"

"No sir, but the man had side whiskers; I think I should know him."

Fitz made no comment; it should be very easy to find this man.

"Miss Cameron"—Fitzgerald picked his chance and questioned her apart from Alice, for Anita had shown the greatest self-control—"I don't want to scare you, but did your aunt have any large amount of money with her, or valuables of any kind?"

"No, I think not; I'm sure of it. I heard her say she would have to go to the bank the first thing this morning. Why? Do you think she has been killed?" She steeled herself, and waited for the man to answer.

"No, I do not think so," he said, but Anita saw the fear that was in his mind.

"Who did you see when you came to this house?" Fitzgerald pursued the inquiry.

"A girl named Arthemise—that one"—Anita pointed—"and the old porter. I think he is called Hippolyte."

"No one else?"

"No one else."

"That is, no one but the servants of the hotel?"

"Yes, and Monsieur Victor."

"Did Mrs. Ashton have enemies? Was there anyone who might wish—wish her harm?"

The last vestige of color faded from Anita's lips.

"Who was it?" Fitzgerald asked, for he knew that there was some one. Anita's eyes evaded his; she answered unsteadily.

"Nobody; that is—I don't know."

Fitzgerald looked at her queerly, it seemed for several minutes. She turned her face away. Then he asked again:

"What baggage did you bring?"

"Two bags."

"Where are they?"

"One of them is in our room."

"The other?"

"My aunt took that into the room with her."

Fitzgerald glanced inquiringly at Victor. The Frenchman shook his head. "The trunks have just come, Monsieur Fitz," he said.

"How many?"

"Three," Victor replied.

"They probably checked one on each ticket?" Fitz commented, and Anita nodded that he was right.

"That is all, Miss Cameron."

Alice came up and stood beside Anita, listening. "Where is my mother?" she asked Fitzgerald, with the sublime faith of a child.

"I don't know—yet," the detective answered frankly.

"Now, Mr. Labouisse, I shall question your servants."

"As you please, monsieur."

"May I use this room?"

"It is at monsieur's service."

It seemed to those outside that Fitzgerald questioned Victor Labouisse a much shorter time than he had either of the others. Then Fitz opened the door himself, and marched out, abrupt and decided.

"Mr. Chaudron, I'm going to search this house, just to satisfy myself and the young ladies. The sooner it's done, the better. I'll have a house full of men here in ten minutes."

"And you have learned nothing?"

Fitz shook his head.

Felix Chaudron called Woodford Vance aside. "These girls ought not to stay here," he said. "This thing is getting serious, and there's no telling what we may find. I'm going to telephone my mother to come and take them to our house."

For hours and hours, as it seemed to Alice and Anita, men went tramping through the hotel, slamming doors, and making a great noise. Alice threw herself across the bed, and listened. Every few moments, at some unusual sound, she sprang up expectantly, but, dreading to ask what had happened.

For half an hour Anita stood leaning against the window, looking out upon the prim old Creole garden with the high wall around it. It was a barbarous-looking wall, with broken bottles sunk in the cement on its top, capping the bricks with jagged spikes of glass. Of course, nobody could climb such a wall as that.

She saw several men out there, Casey, Chaudron and Vance, thrashing about among the shrubbery, poking into the tangled hedges, searching everywhere. Anita, terror-stricken, watched the men pulling aside the vines and peering into those damp dark corners. What could they expect to find? She kept her fascinated eyes upon them and could not turn away. Then they all came in; they had discovered nothing.

Presently someone knocked. She and Alice rushed to the door together.

It was Vance and Chaudron. Both men were dusty and covered with spider webs from their search in garden and garret. Both looked very grave.

"Miss Cameron," said Vance, "you can't stay here to-night. Mr. Chaudron has telephoned his mother; she is on her way to take you and Miss Ashton to her house."

"No, no," Alice protested; "I don't want to go; I want to stay here. It would be deserting mother."

"But you can't help her—"

"I don't care; I won't go—I won't."

"Leave her to me," Anita whispered. "We will go; of course we cannot stay here."

It must have been about two o'clock in the afternoon when Mrs. Chaudron's carriage stopped in front of the Hotel Louis le Grande, and Mrs. Chaudron stepped out—a dark little lady who had once been very beautiful. Her son hurriedly explained to her what had happened.

"Where are the poor little dears?" she asked, and he led her to them.

Chaudron left his mother alone with the girls. In a few moments Anita opened the door and handed out her baggage to Woodford Vance.

"Put that in the carriage," she whispered; "Alice will be ready. We are trying to persuade her to go quietly."

Alice developed more of her mother's determination than one might have suspected; Mrs. Chaudron and Anita were quite a little while in overcoming it. Presently they emerged from the room and came slowly through the hall. Alice made no resistance until she came to the door with the broken knob.

"Oh, I don't want to go—I don't want to go," she cried, and held back. They forced her on as gently as they could, past the room, and out to the carriage. She dropped on the seat and hid her face in Mrs. Chaudron's lap.

Anita sat bolt upright on the front seat, staring about her—staring at those garish banners of purple and gold which flaunted from every balcony in honor of King Rex. It was early afternoon, and all the world seemed dressed for a holiday. Chaudron leaned on the carriage door, talking to his mother.

Anita tried to think. It all seemed so unreal and so terrible, that she could not comprehend. There must be some explanation of it, if she could only think—could only think.

But she could not think. In spite of herself she kept her eyes fixed on the window of that dingy little cat across the street. There! There! He was that same man, peering at her again; at face of wrath and wildness. She shivered; it seemed uncanny to be afraid of a man because he happened to look like No. 1 Duke.

Chaudron stepped back from the carriage and stood beside young Vance on the banquette. "All right," he nodded to the driver. "Home."

"Wait a minute, please," Anita begged; "Mr. Chaudron, I wish you would telegraph Mr. J. E. Baifour, at Vicksburg—you know Joe. Ask him to come down here at once. He is Mrs. Ashton's lawyer, and I'm sure she would want him."

Chaudron gazed after the disappearing carriage. Then he and Vance walked off a little way to consult, and another man watched them from his post at the window across the street.

"Vance," Chaudron spoke with deliberate conviction—"something crooked is going on in yonder."

"Yes; they ought to arrest that Frenchman, maybe the girl. My God! we ought to do something."

"No; Fitzgerald says we have no proof against them yet; we had better let them alone, not appear to suspect them. Hell watch them, close and they can't get away. The minute Victor bats his eye, Fitz says he'll clap him in jail."

"We ought to arrest somebody," Vance kept insisting.

"Well, I can't explain it exactly," Chaudron continued, "but I'm not satisfied. I'm going to get a detective of my own, an Englishman I know, named Baker; he's sharp as tacks, and he'll get at the bottom of this business if anybody can. You stay around here and watch things until I send this telegram. Then I'll get hold of Baker and start him to work."

Late that afternoon, a dapper-looking Englishman, with a tweed suit, fore-and-aft cap, and a valise plastered over with foreign hotel labels, took a room at the Hotel Louis le Grande.

Neither Chaudron nor Vance gave any sign of recognition as they passed Mr. "Henry" Baker in the entry.

PLEADS FOR HONOR OF WOMEN IN SOUTH
SAYS PRESIDENT'S ACT IS DUE TO MISTAKEN IDEA

FILLS BRUTES WITH LUST

Texas Editor Says Negroes Have But One Idea in Life and That Is to Commit the Unspeakable Crime.

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 23.—Hon. Clarence Cusley, editor of the Fort Worth Record, and one of the most thorough students of the race question in the south, has written an open letter to President Roosevelt on the projected abandonment of Fort Brown because the white people refused to receive the negro troops on terms of social equality, in which he reviews the incident and concludes:

"While not so designed its effect is to put hellish lust in the minds of the millions of negro brutes who are no more comparable to the intelligent negro you have met than the best of the race to-day is comparable to the savages of Africa."

Says Negroes Have One Purpose.

"These negroes of whom I speak and whom you do not know, constitute the vast majority of the 9,000,000 living in our back yards, and they are absolutely incapable of reason. Social equality to their minds means the unspeakable crime. For every aspiring and decent negro who sees the 'door of hope' which you vainly imagine you are holding open to the race, 10,000 negroes see only the embrace of a white virgin. Cut off our railroads, drive our men out of the house of their fathers as an atonement for slavery, but don't make our wives and daughters the victims of a false philosophy and a partisan regime."

Culberson Enters Protest.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 23.—United States Senator Charles A. Culberson, of Texas, sent the following telegram:

"Dallas, Tex., Aug. 23.—Gen. F. C. Ainsworth, the Military Secretary, Washington, D. C.: The morning papers here state that Fort Brown will be abandoned and I thank you to wire me if this course has been determined upon. It is due to the United States to protect the frontier, and as Texas borders on Mexico, it has always been deemed advisable to police the frontier with regular troops. Including the station at Fort Brown. While conditions on the border have improved very much within recent years, this course is still advisable and it would be regrettable that this fort should be abandoned because the people of a border city like Brownsville object to negro troops under circumstances of raid and murder such as recently occurred there."

Senator Culberson declined to discuss the matter. He would only say that although the message had been sent early in the day, no reply had been received. He left here Thursday morning for New York and Washington. He goes to New York for the purpose of attending the reception to W. J. Bryan, he being a member of the executive committee. Although he did not so state, it is presumed that his visit to Washington will be to confer with the authorities there regarding the Fort Brown matter.

DESTROYING AMERICAN NETS

Fishermen Complain of Action of Canadian Cruiser in Lake Erie.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Capt. Ross, chief of the revenue cutter service of the treasury department, Wednesday reported to Acting Secretary Murray of the department of commerce and labor, that he had received advices that the Canadian cruiser Vigilant was destroying the nets of American fishermen in Lake Erie.

The reports of the fishermen indicate that the nets were set well within American waters.

Complaints were filed by the fishermen with the American authorities. The matter will be reported to the state department and probably will constitute the subject of an exchange between the American and Canadian governments.

Steel Freighter Hard Ashore.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The steel steamer William A. Rogers of the Tonawanda Transit company is hard ashore on the north shore of Lake Erie, about 40 miles from Buffalo. The Rogers is one of the largest freighters in the great lakes.

General Manager Is Named.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 23.—W. W. McDowell, assistant engineer of the Lexington & Eastern railroad, has been appointed to succeed the late Roger S. Barr, both as director and general manager of the road.

DISEASED ALIENS ARRIVE

STEAMSHIP COMPANIES BRING MANY AFFLICTED PERSONS.

Fines Since the Fourth of August Have Totaled More Than During Sixty Days Preceding.

Washington, Aug. 23.—For 60 days prior to August 4 the department of commerce and labor had assessed in fines on steamship companies $8,100 for bringing into this country diseased aliens. Most of the diseased immigrants were afflicted with trachoma, a contagious disease of the eyes. For every case proved against the steamship companies a fine of $100 was assessed. As there is no appeal from the fines thus assessed, the steamship companies are obliged not only to pay them, but to return the diseased immigrants to the port of embarkation.

Since the 4th inst. the aggregate amount of fines for the same offenses has been proportionately as large as during the previous 60 days. Wednesday fines were levied on steamship companies aggregating $1,200. It is a notable fact that more immigrants afflicted with trachoma are coming to this country just now than have come for several years. The immigration authorities are unable to understand or explain the matter. Every immigrant, before he purchases his passage on any steamship line, is obliged to undergo a medical examination, and how so many who are afflicted with trachoma are accepted for passage involves a question beyond the understanding of the American officials.

FIVE MEN HURT IN EXPLOSION

Boiler Blows Up, Wrecking Electric Light Plant at Marion, O.

Marion, O., Aug. 23.—By the explosion of a 300-horse power boiler, the plant of the Marion Railway & Light company was wrecked Wednesday night and five persons were injured. The explosion wrecked the entire north end of the building and two of those inside of the plant at the time caught under falling walls, and were probably fatally injured. They are Gottlieb Trifl and Charles Dutton. G. F. Dutton was also badly injured and two other men received minor injuries.

The city is in darkness as a result of the explosion. Hundreds of people rushed into the street in the darkness and many were exposed to danger from the falling of a network of wires in the vicinity of the wrecked building.

The damage done is estimated at $50,000.

OPPOSE THE MONROE DOCTRINE

President Roosevelt's View Declared Menace to All Latin America.

San Jose, Costa Rica, Aug. 23.—At a preliminary meeting of the American club the views and objects of that organization were formulated. It is declared to be the purpose of the club "to work for the union of Latin America and to be prepared to oppose the United States in its work of annihilation of Latin American commercial independence."

The Monroe doctrine, in President Roosevelt's point of view, is declared to be a menace to all Latin American countries.

The programme adopted declares that the association is not formed against the United States, but in opposition to the alleged purpose of that country. The motto of the club, with which it proposes to conduct a propaganda, is "Latin America for the world and the world for humanity."

HOLD-UP MEN FAIL IN PURPOSE

Conductor and Passengers Prevent Robbery of Laborers on Train.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 23.—An unsuccessful attempt was made to hold up a gang of laborers on the Northern Pacific train which left Duluth at eight o'clock Tuesday night.

Before the train reached Brainerd two men drew revolvers and attempted to make the laborers give up their money.

They were attacked by Conductor O'Brien, who was assisted by some of the passengers.

One man was captured, but the other escaped from the moving train and escaped in the darkness.

RUINS AND DEBRIS FILL VALPARAISO

FOUR-FIFTHS OF HOUSES COMPLETELY DESTROYED.

BUT ONE CHURCH STANDS

Repetition of San Francisco Disaster, Conditions Being Much the Same as Existed in American Metropolis in April.

Valparaiso, Aug. 23.—From the Plaza de la Victoria as far as the Plaza in the section called Las Delicias, four-fifths of the houses are completely destroyed and the remaining fifth are badly damaged.

From the Plaza de la Victoria down to the custom house only about one-third of the houses sustained damage. The banks of the city and the customs warehouses were not damaged.

With the exception of Espiritu Santo to all the churches in the city were destroyed, as were the hospitals and the theaters. The number of dead is more than 2,000.

The offices of the Havas Agency, although seriously damaged, are still being used for the company's business.

The tragic scenes of the San Francisco disaster were reproduced here. There was the fight against fire, the lack of water, and robbery and pillage.

The authorities are now beginning to get in provisions, and water again is being supplied. All the fires have been extinguished.

Houses Thrown Down.

The first shock lasted four minutes and a half and the second two minutes. Most of the houses were thrown down by the second shock.

Estimates of the damage range from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000. The Alameda quarter has been absolutely destroyed.

The people are still camping on the surrounding hills and in the streets and plazas. The declaration is made that 50,000 people will leave the city. The lack of food is not yet serious.

Telegraphic communication with Santiago has been reestablished.

A number of steamers are engaged in moving the people of the city to points north and south.

Philadelphia Ready to Aid.

Philadelphia, Aug. 23.—In response to a message extending sympathy and offering help to the stricken Chileans, Mayor Weaver received the following cablegram from the President of the Republic of Chile:

"Via Azores, Santiago, Chile, Aug. 22.—John Weaver, Mayor, Philadelphia: We appreciate very highly the expressions of condolence from the citizens of Philadelphia which your honor was kind enough to transmit to me and the sympathy which you extend to us."

Mayor Weaver presided Wednesday at a special meeting of the citizens' permanent relief committee and announced that he had sent cablegrams to American consuls in various Chilean cities, and that the only response was that from President Riesco.

Without definite knowledge of the needs of the sufferers, no action could be taken, but it was decided that if word is received that relief is needed, funds will be sent.

Free Education Bill Passed.

Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 23.—The legislative assembly Wednesday passed the free education bill.

Hint for Dramatic Critics.

It appears that some of the Tokyo dramatic critics have been for some time in the habit of performing in comedies and taking the most celebrated roles. The Japanese critics think, in fact, that before judging the play of the actors they should themselves experience the difficulties of dramatic art.

Personal and Otherwise.

Thackeray's Lord Steyne is said to have been a new portrait of an ancestor of Lord Yarmouth, who married Harry Thaw's sister. The Lord Yarmouth whose picture was painted in Steyne married Miss Fagnano, who inherited from George Selwyn £20,000, £100,000 from another man, and still another immense sum from Fagnano.

EXAMPLE OF SUBLIME "NERVE"

This Man Surely Cut Out for Great Captain of Industry.

When Robertson entered his sitting room, he found Trescott there, resplendent in full evening dress, and helping himself to one of his—Robertson's—best cigars.

"Halloa!" he said. "Why the war paint?"

"Going to Bellingham's to dinner," was the reply. "Why don't you buy better cigars?"

Robertson looked his friend up and down.

"The effect isn't so bad," he said. "Anyone that didn't know you might take you for a gentleman. But I didn't think you boasted an evening suit."

"I don't," said Trescott. "These gads are yours."

"Well, of all the gigantic cheek—" "But I didn't come down to talk about that. I want to know if you'll lend me your umbrella; it's raining."

"I'll see you in Jericho first!" said the indignant Robertson.

"Oh, very well," said Trescott. "It's for your benefit, you know. I only want it to protect your togs!"

And with a choking gasp Robertson handed over his best gold-mounted rain-coat.

SURELY DESERVED THE RELIEF

Aunt Lizzie's Heroic Method to Get Teeth to Fit.

The following dialogue occurred between a lady and her aunt, who had recently purchased some false teeth, which hurt her:

"Aunt Lizzie, here is a piece of sandpaper; now, after you get your work done, you take your teeth out and sandpaper them wherever they hurt you."

About an hour later Aunt Lizzie came in, and her niece said:

"Well, Aunt Lizzie, did you get your teeth fixed?"

"No, not very well."

"What did you do?"

"Why, I took my teeth out and sandpapered my gums; that was what you told me to do, wasn't it?"

"No, I told you to take your teeth out and sandpaper the teeth."

"Oh!" said the aunt. "Well," she added, "it helped them some."

She Loved and Ate.

Perhaps the ultimate limit of idleness and banality, in the shape of an attempt to imitate the monkey, dog and horse dinners of Newport degenerates was reached by a woman of Santa Ana, Orange county, who gave an entertainment at her "palatial home," in honor of a young pig that was about to be killed and eaten. We are informed that the "pharmacist hostess" became greatly attached to the piglet, and feeling that its end was near, she decided to honor it before eating it—with an afternoon tea, so that her friends and guests might tender their adieux to the young swine. Los Angeles Times.

For the Bath-Tubs.

There is no more danger of slipping in the bathtub if one supplies the new corrugated rubber mat that lies in the bottom. This is almost essential for the comfort of old people, and a precaution worthy of use by the obese. Besides the mat there are pieces of rubber fastened by clips to the sides of the tub, to prevent slipping here. Handles are sometimes substituted for this arrangement.
